Organic, Whole Leaf Aloe Vera Barbadosis

Aloeride is arguably the highest quality Aloe vera available, being thoroughly backed up by quality analysis, scientific literature and stability tests. Each capsule contains 180mg of Total Process™ Aloe vera, which has been organically grown and hand filleted from whole leaf without treatment, ensuring maximum nutrient quality and efficacy.

Ingredients:

Each capsule typically contains:

Aloe Vera Barbadosis solids (200:1)

180 mg

Encapsulated with:

Gelatin

Magnesium stearate

Features:

Aloeride is made from the whole leaf of the Aloe vera barbadensis species, which has the highest nutrient quality.

The raw ingredients are grown organically in Texas, under conditions that maximise quality and nutrient value.

The Aloe vera is hand filleted the traditional way, then undergoes a revolutionary new process called Total Process™, a newly developed proprietary methodology which produces enviably high concentrations of desirable constituents and minimises contamination with undesirable compounds.

Aloeride contains no dilution or capsule fillers, stabilisers, colouring agents or flavourings, which means it is well tolerated by everyone.

Every batch of Aloe vera is analysed for purity and potency at an independent laboratory, ensuring it comes as close to pharmaceutical manufacturing standards as possible.

Every production run of Aloe vera is tested to ensure that it does not degrade or interact with its capsule up to 1 year in excess of its best before date.

The grower, the encapsulating factory and the final product are all International Aloe Science Council certified.

Can be mixed with water to provide Aloe vera juice.
